Westbound Traffic Barred
Through Pennel Over
Lincoln Highway

REPAIRS TO BE MADE

Highway Officials Are Giving
The Protesters Careful
Consideration

PENNDL, Apr. 7.—A group of business men, located along the Lincoln highway, have protest over closing of the Lincoln highway through this area to west-bound traffic.

Calling a meeting here on Monday, and requesting representative of Pennsylvania Department of Highways to attend, 25 business men from as far east on the highway as the Old Star airport, asked that an alternate plan be considered while repairs are underway on the Lincoln highway. They also endeavored to secure a pledge from the highway department that there will be no repetition of conditions as they were last fall. "Last fall, when repairs were made, and traffic rerouted through here," explains Werner Frentrup, one of the business men, "only a skeleton crew was maintained, with the result that the highway here was closed to west bound traffic for at least six weeks."

"We realize the job has to be done, but feel it should be carried out on a faster schedule," Frentrup added. "Eighty to 90 per cent of our business is from 'through' transportation groups. It works a hardship on the highway business when work is stretched out."

Mr. Frentrup opened the meeting in Sylvester & Keating's office, here, calling upon Senator Edward J. Watson, also officials of the state highway department and other business men.

The rerouting of traffic started yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, west bound traffic being sent from the point near Old Star airport through Glen Lake and Lanhome to a point west of Parkland; east bound traffic through this borough.

Request was made by the business men that truck traffic only be routed through Langhome west bound, with passenger cars permitted to proceed west on the Lincoln highway. This suggestion was rejected, Mr. Frentrup states.

Senator Watson then suggested to the highway officials that local traffic be permitted to move both ways from the airport to Pennel. This, the highway representatives advised, they will take up with higher officials, giving their decision in a day or two.

Asked definitely by the business men just how long the rerouting will be in effect they were informed approximately six weeks or possibly longer.

Industrial Club Holds First Membership Meeting

CROYDON, Apr. 7.—The Lower Bucks County Industrial Club held its initial membership meeting last evening at the Philco Corp. plant, here, with 130 leading industrial men from this area in attendance.

The meeting was presided over by Jeffrey Tattersfield, of Dearnley Bros., Phila., president of the Phila. Foremen's Club, who in turn inducted the new president of Lower Bucks County Industrial Club, Alfred E. Lewis, Manhattan Soap Co. The other officers presented from the local club included: John Chiocki, Philco, first vice president; J. Russell Straub, Paterson Parchment Paper Co., 2nd vice president; Edward Ritter, Bancroft-Hickey Co., treasurer; and T. F. Eppley, district executive Y. M. C. A., executive secretary.

The program included a panel discussion led by Dr. W. Roy Buckwalter, Temple University, Phila.; on "Elements that Make for good Foremen-Shop Steward Relations." Other members of the panel were L. W. Moseley, Electric Storage Battery Co.; Harvey T. Stephens, International Resistance Co.; Elmer Edwards, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilders Workers; and Henry Segal, Pulp Sulphite Workers. Following a short presentation by each member of the panel, Dr. Buckwalter, as moderator, conducted an open forum discussion, with questions from the floor directed to various members of the panel. Great emphasis was placed on the importance of well trained foremen and shop stewards, and the need for choice of these men on merit rather than choice by popular demand from the workers. Also it was urged that both foremen and shop stewards be included in discussions on grievances and shop contract disputes. It was pointed out that all grievances, regardless of how trivial, should be recognized and an attempt be made to settle them at their inception rather than allow them to become deep seated and require arbitration.

The next meeting of the Lower Bucks County Club will be held on May 4, place to be announced. The executive committee will meet on April 27.

PENNA. IN CONGRESS

How is Pennsylvania making out in Congress?
This is an interesting question, and one which has received no great amount of public attention.

There was a time, a generation or so ago, when the voice of the Keystone State was one of the strong influences in the national government. In still earlier days of our nation, this state, as everybody knows, was the outstanding leader. The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were written in Pennsylvania, and the Federal Government met here for several years.

In 1934, as part of the New Deal sweep, the citizens of this state turned the bulk of their delegation in Congress over to the Democrats. For more than ten years, the majority of Pennsylvania's votes were no more than "me too" votes for policies and leaders that had their home elsewhere.

A year and a half ago, in the "Had Enough" campaign, the voters restored a strong Republican majority in the House, and gave the Republicans one of the two seats in the U. S. Senate. The extent of this revolution never has been sufficiently appreciated.

Actually, the Republicans entered the year 1946 with a margin of one vote in the two Houses. There were eighteen Republicans in the House, and fifteen Democrats. The Democrats had both seats in the Senate. The combined vote was 18 to 17 in favor of the Republicans.

This by no means presented the true picture. The Democratic Congressmen, belonging to the party then in command, had all the choice and important committee seats. The Republicans, coming from scattered areas in the State, were disorganized and disunited. Repeatedly they cancelled their strength by splitting on important roll-calls.

Philadelphia, with a fifth of the state's population, a city which had been consistently Republican ever since there was a Republican Party, had not a single Republican voice anywhere in the national government. The executive branch was, of course, exclusively Democratic; and in Congress there were six Democratic Representatives from Philadelphia, with the two Democratic Senators.

All this was changed completely when Congress met in January of 1947. The six new Congressmen from Philadelphia were all Republicans, and the city had in the Senate, if not a direct representative of its own, at least a warm Republican friend in the person of former Governor Edward Martin.

EMPLOYEES HONORED BRISTOL TRUST CO.

Given Pension Certificates
and Insurance Policies at Anniversary Dinner

MARKS ITS 40TH YEAR

Presentation of insurance policies and pension plan certificates to employees of The Bristol Trust Company high-lighted a "family dinner" last night, marking the 40th anniversary of the financial institution.

Eleven eligible employees received policies and certificates and three more will be similarly honored within the next few days, upon completion of certain details.

The pension plan, known as the "Bristol Trust Pension Plan," entitles each female employee at the age of 60 to receive 50% of the salary she received at the age of 55, and male employees when they reach the age of 65 will receive 50% of the salary they received when 55 years of age.

The insurance policies will pay at death $1,000 for each $20 of salary. The plan is integrated with Social Security.

The dinner was held in the Travel Club Home where tables were attractively decked in spring flowers, with corsages for the women and boutonnières for the men.

In extending greetings, Emil Metzger, president of The Bristol Trust Company, briefly sketched the growth and development of the organization. He told how, on April 6th, 1908, the business was started and conducted with two employees—a secretary-treasurer and a teller. "Now we have 18 employees and are doing the business within the same four walls."

"Bristol is becoming more and more an industrial center," he said. "We have large industries and small industries." Then casually referring to the plans for a new banking house which are now being prepared, he said "we expect to have a model banking building."

Jacob C. Schmidt, Burgess of Bristol, said he felt highly honored in being among the guests. "You have something to brag about. You have a wonderful organization. You have a very strong institution."

Introduced as a man who for 18 years had guided the Bristol Trust Company when he served as president, Joseph R. Grundy spoke in a reminiscent and humorous vein.

Vice-President Edward Barnsley replied to an introduction by President Metzger.

Appreciation of the faithful service of the employees under trying difficulties, because of the inadequate quarters, was expressed by Lester D. Thorne, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Thorne said: "Since

REHABILITATION OF CHURCH IS PLANNED

Christ P. E. Church, Eddington, is Recipient of $10,000 Gift

WILL SECURE BIDS

EDDINGTON, Apr. 7.—Announcement has been made of the gift of $10,000 to Christ Episcopal Church, here, by Miss Gladys Connelly as a contribution to the glory of God and for the extension of Christ's Kingdom.

The gift comes at a time when plans are being forwarded for rehabilitation of Christ Church, cost of such being listed as $15,000.

The edifice has not been used as a place of worship for some time due to the building having been deemed unsafe for public gatherings. The parish building is being used for services at present.

With announcement of receipt of the $10,000 gift, the vestry last week arranged to engage the services of a prominent Philadelphia architect, and will proceed to secure bids for the re-building at once.

The present edifice will be partly razed, it is stated, then rebuilding on the same site will get underway.

The annual parish meeting last week was held in the basement of the parish building with William L. Williams, Sr., rector's warden, acting as the presiding officer. The rector the Rev. Albert W. Eastburn, offered prayer. The parish report was read by Mr. Williams, Sr., and report of treasurer given by William L. Williams, Jr., accounting warden.

The various organizations of the church were then reported upon by their respective officers, namely: St. Martha's Guild, Miss Gladys Connelly; Altar Guild, Miss Connelly; Women's Club, Mrs. Louise Powell; Girls' Friends Society, Miss Durr; Sunday School, Robert Lewis; new building fund, Miss Dorothy Vansant.

The election of the vestry resulted in the following: Three years, George Scott, Raymond Jones, Robert Fitch, Wm. L. Williams, Sr.; for one year, William Whitely, William Durr, and Robert Lewis. At the reorganization of the vestry Willard Erickson was elected clerk of the vestry; Mr. Williams, Jr., accounting warden and treasurer; and Mr. Williams, Sr., was appointed rector's warden by the Rev. Mr. Eastburn.

At the conclusion of the meeting six reels of "movies" were shown, and refreshments were served by the vestry.

TOWNSHIP PUPILS AGAIN IS SUBJECT FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Definite Decision To Be Reached at Joint Meeting
of School Boards

TO BE HELD APR. 13TH

Both Bristol and Bristol Township Schools Are Overcrowded

Definite decision is to be made by Bristol borough school board within a week in regard to continuing acceptance of tenth grade pupils from Bristol township at Bristol high school. At the April meeting last evening in Wood street school building, date for discussion of this matter and decision was set, and among the many other matters of business resolutions of three teachers were accepted, hiring of one teacher approved, and wheels set in motion for ultimate driver-training course in the local schools.

The session was in charge of president Mrs. William Harding, others in attendance being Mrs. Jacob Townsend, Messrs. Ruel, Pagnone, Dougherty, also treasurer John C. Johnson, secretary Paul V. Foster, superintendent of schools Warren P. Snyder, and high school principal David Hertzler.

That 10th grade pupils from Bristol township "cannot be accommodated without doing injustice to Bristol pupils" was one point brought out during the discussion on overcrowded conditions. Members voiced the opinion that local pupils are now being slighted in order to care for those from outside the district; also that the sending school has an obligation, overcrowded conditions "being their problem as much as that of the receiving school." A motion was passed to invite the Bristol township board of school directors to meet with Bristol borough board at eight p. m., on Tuesday, April 13th, in Wood street school building, at which time conditions will be set forth to the township board, and definite decision made in regard to continuing instruction for the township 10th grade pupils in Bristol schools. It was pointed out that "it has always cost more to receive tuition students than is received from the sending district. It appears to be an attractive capital asset, but . . . we cannot charge debt service and depreciation." The feeling was that fewer teachers

BUSINESS MEN PROTEST OVER THE HIGHWAY CLOSING

Westbound Traffic Barred
Through Pennel Over
Lincoln Highway

REPAIRS TO BE MADE

Highway Officials Are Giving The Protesters Careful Consideration

PENNDLE, Apr. 7.—A group of business men, located along the Lincoln highway, have protested over closing of the Lincoln highway through this area to westbound traffic.

Calling a meeting here on Monday, and requesting representative of Pennsylvania Department of Highways to attend, 25 business men from as far east on the highway as the Old Star airport, asked that an alternate plan be considered while repairs are underway on the Lincoln highway. They also endeavored to secure a pledge from the highway department that there will be no repetition of conditions
as they were last fall. "Last fall, when repairs were made, and traffic rerouted through here," explains Werner Frentrup, one of the business men, "only a skeleton crew was maintained, with the result that the highway here was closed to west bound traffic for at least six weeks."

"We realize the job has to be done, but feel it should be carried out on a faster schedule," Fren-trup added. "Eighty to 90 per cent of our business is from 'through' transportation groups. It works a hardship on the highway businessmen when work is stretched out."

Mr. Frentrup opened the meeting in Sylvester & Keating's office, here, calling upon Senator Edward J. Watson, also officials of the state highway department and other business men.

The rerouting of traffic started yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, west bound traffic being sent from the point near Old Star airport
through Glen Lake and Lanhorne
to a point west of Parkland; east bound traffic through this borough.

Request was made by the business men that truck traffic only be routed through Lanhorne west bound, with passenger cars permitted to proceed west on the Lincoln highway. This suggestion was rejected, Mr. Frentrup states.

Senator Watson then suggested to the highway officials that local traffic be permitted to move both ways from the airport to Pennel.
This, the highway representatives advised, they will take up with higher officials, giving their decision in a day or two.

Asked definitely by the business men just how long the rerouting
will be in effect they were informed approximately six weeks or possibly longer.

CALENDAR HAS "PEACE" DAY

If Miss Jessie Low Warren of Denver has her way—and if she doesn't it will not be from lack of zeal—the world will measure time in a more simplified and balanced manner starting in 1951.

And the old nursery rhyme about "thirty days hath September, etc.," will be revised to something like:

"Twenty-eight days hath

September,

March and June and November
Mercury and all the rest.

December, though, has twenty-

nine

(With World Peace Day to make it fine)

And Leap Year brings an extra
quest."

Miss Warren began worrying about the calendar about the same time Teddy Roosevelt did. That was about the turn of the century and she was a bank stenographer in Chicago. When Miss Warren worries, she worries constructively and by 1945 she had a new calendar all figured out.

"Warren's Universal Balanced Calendar" has 13 months and each of the months has 28 days. December 29 is World Peace Day to make up the 365 days of the normal year and there will be a February 29 every four years just as there is in the Gregorian calendar. The thirteenth month will be known as Mercury.

The World Calendar Association has been pushing for a 13-month calendar, but Miss Warren is convinced hers is better because it takes religious beliefs into account and plays no tricks with the Sabbath.

The year when her calendar can be put into effect with least disturbance is 1951, she says. "You see," she explains, "each week in my calendar starts on Monday and the calendar should go into effect in some year when January 1 falls on a Monday."

Miss Warren sees all manner of benefits from the simplified calendar in which all months will be of the same length. And the world could use that "World Peace Day" idea at that.

There is less interest in the scientific finding that the blush of a blonde is hotter than that of a brunette than there is in learning where girls may be found who still blush.

Pioneers who named a Kansas town, which is to get an $80,000,000 plant to extract gasoline from natural gas, Garden City, must have been convinced its prospects were lovely.

When Russia takes over a country, the men who have opposed Communism either dig their way out under the boundary fence or die.

The automobile industry may not have met the postwar demand for new cars completely, but it is keeping the parking spaces filled.

Those 21-ton bombs the Army is experimenting with can hardly be said to come in the large economy size.

Penna. In Congress

The present Republican strength from Pennsylvania is twenty-eight Representatives in the House, against five Democrats; and one Republican Senator to one Democratic Senator. That means that the Republican strength in the combined Houses is twenty-nine to six.

Only one other State has as great a Republican majority. That one, which happens to be exactly the same as Pennsylvania in both Houses, is New York. The fact is, however, that Pennsylvania's bloc of Republican votes has exerted far more influence upon Congressional policies than has the equal number from New York, for the simple reason that they have stuck together.

This is the factor which has given Pennsylvania so much leadership—her Republicans in the two Houses have shown teamwork.

As may be well known to many Pennsylvanians, the twenty-eight Republican Representatives from this State meet regularly in Washington to discuss the problems before them. Senator Martin habitually sits in with these sessions. So do Republicans from certain other nearby states, on some occasions.

In union there is strength. By the process of talking over pending legislation, and agreeing among themselves ahead of time where they are going to stand, Pennsylvania Congressmen have come to have the biggest, and by all odds the strongest, single bloc of votes in Congress.

The roll-calls reflect this situation. New York's Republican delegates constantly cancel out some of their strength by reason of their inability to make up their joint minds ahead of time.

The Pennsylvania Republican unity, on the other hand, constantly attracts and influences on-the-fence votes from outside the state.

It is, for instance, a reasonable statement to say that, if Pennsylvania's Republicans in Congress had not stood together on the tax issue, and had not stood up for what they believed in, there would be no tax cuts today.

This issue has been touch and go from the start. The Republican Party definitely promised the tax reductions as part of their 1946 campaign. President Truman was determined to block the carrying out of this pledge, at whatever cost—not because the tax reductions shouldn't have been made long ago, but simply to keep his opponents from "making good."

There have been literally thousands of suggestions as to how tax reductions might be made. Nothing would have been easier than for the Republicans to have failed to get together behind a single plan, or for them to have driven through a program which, on the final roll-call, the Democrats would have been unwilling to support.

Pennsylvania blazed the trail in avoiding these pitfalls. They refused to get into any backbiting over the details of the tax-cut measures—and they were able to attract a steadily increasing number of Democratic votes on each of the three attempts to over-ride the Truman veto.

In the final showdown last week, which at long last beat down the President's resistance and put the tax cuts on the statute books, the combined vote in the two houses of Congress was four to one, instead of the mere two to one actually needed.

Pennsylvania's delegation in the legislative branch of government voted for the tax cuts by the tremendous margin of ten to one. This was reached by the following breakdown. In the House of Representatives, 27 of the 28 Republicans voted for the tax cuts—one was unavoidably absent. Two Democrats voted for the tax cuts and two voted against it. In the Senate, the Republican voted for the tax cuts, and Democratic Senator Myers voted against. That counts up to thirty votes for the tax measure, and only three votes (all Democratic) against it.

As a political accomplishment, the success of the Republican Party in driving through the tax reductions is one of the outstanding party performances in all history.

It was made possible only by leadership, loyalty and persistence—and Pennsylvania contributed heavily to all three.

CALENDAR HAS "PEACE" DAY

If Miss Jessie Low Warren of Denver has her way—and if she doesn't it will not be from lack of zeal—the world will measure
time in a more simplified and balanced manner starting in 1951.

And the old nursery rhyme
about "thirty days hath September, etc.," will be revised to something like:

"Twenty-eight days hath

September,
March and June and November
Mercury and all the rest.

December, though, has twenty-
nine
(With World Peace Day to make it fine)
And Leap Year brings an extra
quest."

Miss Warren began worrying about the calendar about the same time Teddy Roosevelt did. That was about the turn of the century and she was a bank stenographer
in Chicago. When Miss Warren worries, she worries constructively and by 1945 she had a new calendar all figured out.

"Warren's Universal Balanced Calendar" has 13 months and each of the months has 28 days.
December 29 is World Peace Day to make up the 365 days of the normal year and there will be a February 29 every four years just as there is in the Gregorian calendar. The thirteenth month will be known as Mercury.

The World Calendar Association has been pushing for a 13-month calendar, but Miss Warren is convinced hers is better because it takes religious beliefs
into account and plays no tricks
with the Sabbath.

The year when her calendar
can be put into effect with least disturbance is 1951, she says.
"You see," she explains, "each week in my calendar starts on Monday and the calendar should go into effect in some year when January 1 falls on a Monday."

Miss Warren sees all manner of benefits from the simplified calendar in which all months will be of the same length. And the world could use that "World Peace Day" idea at that.

There is less interest in the scientific finding that the blush of a blonde is hotter than that of a brunette than there is in learning where girls may be found who still blush.

Pioneers who named a Kansas town, which is to get an $80,000-000 plant to extract gasoline from natural gas, Garden City, must have been convinced its prospects were lovely.

When Russia takes over a country, the men who have opposed Communism either dig their way out under the boundary fence
or die.

The automobile industry may not have met the postwar demand for new cars completely, but it is keeping the parking spaces filled.

Those 21-ton bombs the Army is experimenting with can hardly be said to come in the large economy size.

Penna. In Congress

The present Republican strength from Pennsylvania is twenty-eight Representatives in the House, against five Democrats; and one Republican Senator to one Democratic Senator.
That means that the Republican strength in the combined houses is twenty-nine to six.

Only one other State has as great a Republican majority.
That one, which happens to be exactly the same as Pennsylvania in both Houses, is New York. The fact is, however, that Pennsylvania's bloc of Republican votes has exerted far more influence upon Congressional policies than has the equal number from New York, for the simple reason that they have stuck together.
This is the factor which has given Pennsylvania so much leadership in the two Houses have shown teamwork.

As may be well known to many Pennsylvanians, the twenty-eight Republican Representatives from this State meet regularly in Washington to discuss the problems before them. Senator Martin habitually sits in with these sessions. So do Republicans from certain other nearby states, on some occasions.

In union there is strength. By the process of talking over pending legislation, and agreeing among themselves ahead of time where they are going to stand, Pennsylvania Congressmen have come to have the biggest, and by all odds the strongest,
single bloc of votes in Congress.

The roll-calls reflect this situation. New York's Republican delegates constantly cancel out some of their strength by reason of their inability to make up their joint minds ahead of time.
The Pennsylvania Republican unity, on the other hand, constantly attracts and influences on-the-fence votes from outside the state.

It is, for instance, a reasonable statement to say that, if Pennsylvania's Republicans in Congress had not stood together on the tax issue, and had not stood up for what they believed in,
there would be no tax cuts today.

This issue has been touch and go from the start. The Republican Party definitely promised the tax reductions as part of their 1946 campaign. President Truman was determined to block the carrying out of this pledge, at whatever cost—not because the tax reductions shouldn't have been made long ago, but simply to keep his opponents from "making good."

There have been literally thousands of suggestions as to how tax reductions might be made. Nothing would have been easier than for the Republicans to have failed to get together behind a single plan, or for them to have driven through a program which, on the final roll-call, the Democrats would have been unwilling to support.

Pennsylvania blazed the trail in avoiding these pitfalls. They refused to get into any backbiting over the details of the tax-cut measures—and they were able to attract a steadily increasing number of Democratic votes on each of the three attempts to over-ride the Truman veto.

In the final showdown last week, which at long last beat down the President's resistance and put the tax cuts on the statute books, the combined vote in the two houses of Congress was four to one, instead of the mere two to one actually needed.

Pennsylvania's delegation in the legislative branch of government voted for the tax cuts by the tremendous margin of ten to one. This was reached by the following breakdown. In the House of Representatives, 27 of the 28 Republicans voted for the tax cuts—one was unavoidably absent. Two Democrats voted for the tax cuts and two voted against it. In the Senate, the Republican voted for the tax cuts, and Democratic Senator Myers voted against. That counts up to thirty votes for the tax measure, and only three votes (all Democratic) against it.

As a political accomplishment, the success of the Republican Party in driving through the tax reductions is one of the outstanding party performances in all history.

It was made possible only by leadership, loyalty and persistence—and Pennsylvania contributed heavily to all three.

Zesters, Wed Fifty Years, Are Feted At Croydon

CROYDON, Apr. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Zester were guests of honor at a surprise gathering on Saturday evening in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. It was given by the members of the Croydon Fire Company and Ladies' Auxiliary and held in the fire station.

A buffet supper was served at tables decorated with cut flowers. A large cake decorated with "50th Anniversary" was used as the main centerpiece.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of local musicians. About 100 members and friends enjoyed the happy affair.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The
Rev. Edward Gearhart Yeomans
Minister
Bristol Presbyterian Church

By faith we come into Thy presence, O God, commending unto Thee and Thy loving care our lives. We remember those who are in special need. Heal the sick. Quicken the careless. Lighten the load for those who are oppressed. Comfort the sorrowing. Grant to us all the favor of Thy mercy in the forgiveness of our sins and the acceptance of our service. This we ask to the praise of Thy Holy name and in Jesus' Name, Amen.

Township Pupils Again Subject for School Board

would be needed with fewer pupils; also smaller amount of books and supplies.

F. Dallas John has been hired as a machine shop instructor to start September, 1948. Mr. John, who has had 18 years experience as a teacher and four years experience in industry and construction, is a graduate of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., and holds a masters degree from Ohio State University. He has been teaching at Lebanon for 14 years. He succeeds Carmen Mignoni, temporary instructor.

Resignations of the following were accepted: Mrs. Mary Hemberger, teacher of ninth grade history and English; Mrs. Ethel Z. Kratz, elementary music supervisor; R. Spade, seventh grade mathematics instructor at Jefferson avenue school.

Need in the future for a trained teacher for automobile driver-training resulted in decision by the board to pay cost of summer course tuition and transportation for Lester Michael in this work. In line with such, superintendent Snyder was authorized to proceed with negotiations for loan of a dual-control car for purposes of instruction. The driver-training course decision followed extensive information by the superintendent. He stated that the course will be offered and possibly required soon throughout the state. Inasmuch as the schools here have no one trained to meet qualifications the state is setting up, the board arrived at the decision for one of the faculty members to take such training. "This is an educational program to cut down wild driving and to cut down on the vehicular death rate," Mr. Snyder advised.

Decision was made to spread supplemental contracts for local teachers over 12 month period, instead of by seasons.

Mrs. Charles I. Bowen, who is in charge of the high school cafeteria, asked for clarification of her status and duties, and consideration as manager fully defined. She expressed the feeling that if she is in charge of the cafeteria she should have full privileges in regard to assistants retained there. This matter was the outgrowth of recent decision by the board to dispense with services of the cafeteria assistant having the least seniority. The board passed a motion that the cafeteria committee meet with Mrs. Bowen and make some arrangements whereby Mrs. Bowen be given satisfaction in regard to the matter, with set of rules to be drawn up and presented to the board for approval.

Mr. Dougherty reported on the recent athletic tournament conducted at the high school to provide athletic funds for spring sports. Although returns financially were quite good, the director deplored lack of support that he felt such event merited.

Upon written request of a representative of the faculty members, the board passed a motion to the effect teachers be granted privilege of dismissing school one hour earlier on May 12th. This is for the purpose of attending the annual luncheon of the faculty. The board had previously decided that such affair should not be held during school hours. By arranging such on a Wednesday, the day of religious instruction classes, the elementary grades will miss but one hour of school, it was pointed out.

Request being made last evening by I. Johnston Hetherington, of Bracken Post, American Legion, the schools here will observe Monday, May 31st, as a holiday. The request was made so that pupils can attend the memorial exercises. Request of Robert Downing that the Bracken Post be permitted use of the auditorium on May 8th for competition of color guard groups from eastern Penna., was granted. The affair will be followed by a dance.

Use of the auditorium will also be permitted by the board for the following affairs provided no school activities conflict: Evening of June 11th, meeting of Bucks County Firemen's Association; date late in May or early June for piano recital of pupils of Mrs. Edward Hillborn. The board agreed to the latter inasmuch as no charge is to be made for admission, and individuals in charge agree to have piano tuned (use of piano depending upon arrangements with school music department.)

Condition of plaster in several of the high school rooms was discussed. Invitation was received from Siles P. T. A. for Bristol schools to participate in an art and hobby exhibition on Apr. 28, 29, 30, at Trevoose community house, prizes to be awarded. The board decided to release collection firm from bond on the 1944-45 tax obligations.

Reports of Messrs. Snyder and Hertzler were presented to the board. The latter was advised to carry out the summer school sessions for delinquent pupils on the same basis as last year.

The board arranged to consult an architect concerning preparation of baseball diamond on the new high school site. After brief discussion on pupil participation in the Bristol Chamber of Commerce "Clean-Up" campaign the matter of having top soil placed in front of the high school building, prior to planting of grass seed, was placed in the hands of the property committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McManus entertained several neighbors and friends at a "sing," Sunday evening. A program of familiar songs was followed by the serving of home-made ginger bread, cookies and coffee. Alexander Sutter, Mayfair, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. McManus.
